LIVING WITH INTENTIONALITY IN RETIREMENT

BY WAYNE BOLLENBACHER

Someone once said, “Retirement is not the end of the road. It’s the beginning of the open highway.” We will experience limitless freedom and flexibility, which we haven’t truly enjoyed since we were children. How will we manage this new phase in life?

As I’m retiring, I’m considering four dimensions and several key components of each in hopes of crafting fulfilling golden years: personal matters, relational matters, financial matters and spiritual matters. Here are some action steps that may be useful for all of us entering (or residing in) retirement.

PERSONAL MATTERS:

- Be patient with your spouse and yourself. It takes time to adjust to your new life status. Give yourselves room to make mistakes and learn from them. Soon, things will fall into place as you adapt to this new life cycle.

- Be disciplined. Think carefully about what you want to do with the rest of your life. Develop healthy routines that provide the missing structure that your vocation provided you. Avoid drifting through life with no purpose.

- Start a new hobby, take up a new sport, get better at an existing hobby or sport. Seek to uncover an unknown talent. Is there a desire to learn to fly fish or learn photography? Here’s your opportunity. What talent is yet to be discovered in you?

- Join a fitness group. Stay committed to an active lifestyle. Work toward getting in the best shape of your life.

- Pursue education or read. Many colleges offer discounts to retirees above certain ages so pursue a degree long desired. Carve out time every day to read in areas of interest.

RELATIONAL MATTERS:

- Spend time with friends and family. Get to know other retirees; make daily or weekly plans to hang out. Visit family members, near and far; rekindle family ties. We really do need each other!

- Become a mentor. Many younger people welcome the chance to learn from the experienced and successful. At church, become a Barnabas to a Timothy.

- Volunteer at your church and other charitable organizations that interest you. Retirement is a wonderful opportunity to give back.

- Guard against loneliness. Retirement can be socially isolating if we let it creep in. Get involved in activities that engage people to keep loneliness at bay.

FINANCIAL MATTERS:

- Live within your means. Create a budget each year. You earned retirement – so make it enjoyable by living within the boundaries of what your funds allow.

- If you don't have a financial plan, consider getting one from Servant Solutions. If you need help in creating a budget, contact Servant Solutions for this assistance as well. Both are free!

- Determine carefully and strategically if a move or downsizing is something you should consider in retirement.

- Be sure your estate planning is updated. If you don't have a will, Servant Solutions offers you the opportunity to create a will for free. If you have a trust, does it need to be amended to reflect current matters in your life? Also include preparing burial arrangements as a part of your planning; your family will be grateful.

- Need a little extra income? Find a part-time job doing something that's meaningful to you.

SPIRITUAL MATTERS:

- Get involved in a Bible study that meets regularly. Develop your devotional life further.

- Use your spiritual gifts in service to your church and other non-profit organizations. Have your gifts changed as you've matured? Take a spiritual gifts test to understand your current strengths.

- Be a willing volunteer in your church. Serve when asked – and be supportive if you're not asked. Avoid becoming the church curmudgeon!

- Be a financial supporter. You're on a fixed income. If you've planned and prepared well, you can be a blessing to your church in your retirement years. Take advantage of current tax laws that can help you give to your church even if you don't get a charitable deduction for the gift.

I'm looking forward to enjoying the "open highway" of retirement and intentionally concentrating on these matters. Will you join me on the journey?

Serve when asked – and be supportive if you're not asked. Avoid becoming the church curmudgeon!

My dad had no idea he had an ability to create amazing paintings that look like photographs until he took the first step to learn how to paint with oils in his early 60s. He completed this painting in his mid-70's.
